

PASCAL RODUIT

CHIEF INVESTMENT OFFICER

J.P.Morgan

Prior to joining PFS Financial, Pascal was a senior financial analyst at Mercer Park LP, a family office focusing on the acquisition of alternative investment entities. Before joining Mercer Park LP, Pascal was the Chief Risk Officer and the Director of Quantitative Research for the Rock Maple Funds, a fund-of-hedge-funds manager. At Rock Maple Funds, Pascal developed an investment “roadmap” for hedge fund portfolio construction and risk management, based on the concepts of Omega.

Pascal is a frequent speaker at hedge fund conferences, seminars, and round table events, both domestic and abroad. Previously, Pascal was the director of risk management at Pine Grove Asset Management.

His experience includes working at JP Morgan Securities; there he developed an investment/risk methodology known as Risk Appraisal Drives Absolute Returns (“RADAR”) and assisted in the portfolio construction process and manager due diligence for the creation of fund-of-hedge-funds products. Earlier in his career, he also developed and expanded the hedge fund advisory services for the bank’s Geneva office.

It was at JP Morgan that Pascal developed the “Hedge Fund Cycle Map,” a macroeconomic based approach to evaluate hedge fund strategy performance. Prior to JP Morgan, Pascal was a fund manager at Deutsche Bank (North America and South East Asia Equity Funds), and at Lloyds Bank (Global Fixed Income Fund).

At both Lloyds Bank and Deutsche Bank Pascal was a member of the investment committee, responsible for the USD denominated managed accounts.

Pascal has a BA and an MBA from The American University, Washington, DC.
